Selectmen's Meeting

DECEMBER 6th, 1983 - by Virginia Arral

NEW RESTAURANT - SELECTMEN AND NEIGHBORS PLEASED

Structural renewal and a new image is in store for a Route 6 building at 143 Fairhaven Road that has been known to have had at least six different names in the past years; the most recent being "The Club Gazebo".

Thanks for the change should go to Roland E. Blouin, Jr. of 71 Green Street, Fairhaven who has purchased the building and to the Selectmen who, at last week's selectmen's meeting, heartily approved the venture and granted an all-alcoholic beverage license and common victualer license for the establishment to be known as Joseph's Old Tavern Inn.

Blouin told the board he expected to have the lounge ready by the end of January and the restaurant ready in February. He said the restaurant will hold 150 people and the lounge about 30 people. There will be no loud bands and no entertainment. He noted in the future he may put in a piano.

A former cook with L'Auberge of Marion, Blouin explained he plans to feature country cooking, hearty food and leisurely dining. In reply to Selectman Frank Suzan's question as to the age group he intends to aim for, Blouin said it will be the dinner crowd and will not feature loud music.

Among the outside changes, the new owner said there will be different windows, a new front door and landscaping. Inside, he said he plans to add a fireplace, install new floor boards and replace the doors to the lounge.

A graduate of Fairhaven High School and the Culinary Institute of Connecticut, Blouin has worked at the Riverside Restaurant in Middleboro, as well as five years at L'Auberge. He said there will be two good cooks at Joseph's and that he will be there during the day to supervise.

Blouin said the restaurant will be open six days a week, closed on Monday, and will be open from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. and again from 5:30 to 9 p.m. during the week and until 10:00 p.m. on the weekends.

Selectmen chairman John DeCosta noted the building has had a variety of names over the years, such as Art's Place, Teddy Bear Club, Cuzzin' Dave's, Graffiti, My Place, King of the Road and most recent, Club Gazebo.

A letter was placed in the records from Mr. and Mrs. Chester Rusinoski, 139 Fairhaven Road, next door neighbors to the restaurant. They approve the location of Joseph's Old Tavern Inn as long as this establishment remains a restaurant. "We are not in favor of a band which will produce loud music as in the past. We also will object to loud noise at closing hour," Mrs. Rusinoski wrote.

The letter continued, "We have observed the building and feel everything, if it runs as we were told, will run smoothly. If at any time my husband and I feel this establishment is not following Mattapoisett's rules, a meeting with the selectmen will be scheduled."

Selectman James Huntoon commented, "We are looking forward to seeing the property used - and used correctly." All Selectmen wished Blouin the best of luck!

Officers of the business include: Roland E. Blouin, president and treasurer; Leona R. Blouin, 35 Summer Street, Fairhaven, clerk; and Board of Directors, Roland, Leona and Paul T. Blouin.

In other business, Selectmen:

READ a letter sent to the Police Department from the Holly Woods Association in which it expressed appreciation for the added patrols the department has put into their area. Carol Atkinson, association secretary, wrote, "individually, and as a group, we extend our thanks; it is very gratifying to be assured of this coverage".

Mrs. Jane Leverone, Community Coordinator for the Chemical People project, informed the Selectmen that a Board of Directors will be appointed to coordinate, oversee and give direction to the various committee activities of the task force committee.

Elaine Sylvia, Selectmen's secretary and an active supporter of the project, explained the group would like to have a volunteer from each of the Tri-Town Boards of Selectmen to serve.

Old Colony Open House

Old Colony Regional Vocational-Technical High School, Rochester will be holding an Open House on Thursday, December 15th, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. At this time, parents are invited to visit the school and see the vocational programs in operation. Each shop will be operating on a small scale with a few students working on projects as they would during a normal school day. Parents will have the chance to meet briefly with individual instructors to discuss their child's educational progress in the vocational, related, and academic subject areas. However, with a student enrollment of five hundred eighty, it will be impossible to devote the necessary time to discuss lengthy or serious problems.

Since Old Colony constitutes a substantial pool of skilled workers, area employers are also encouraged to pay a visit and get a first-hand look at our vocaational training programs.

Everyone at Old Colony looks forward to an informative and enjoyable evening.

Included among those attending was Lynn Paulsen, 2 West Drive, Marion.

The Chamberlayne students participated in a tour of the 48 showrooms located within walking distance of each other in mid-town Manhattan. They included such famous designers as Stendig, Inc., Jack Lenor Larsen, Haworth, Inc., Knoll International, Steelcase, Inc., Beylerian Limited, and John Stuart/John Widdicomb.

The tour featured commercial and residential furniture, carpets, textiles, wall-coverings, lamps and accessories.

Also on the program was a visit to the American Wing courtyard (the living room from Frank Lloyd Wright's Little House is displayed there).

WINTER WATERFOWL BIRD WALK

Thousands of wintering waterfowl eschew sunny Florida for Dartmouth's coastal bays and inland waterways in January. Meet us at the Lloyd Center for Environmental Studies, 430 Potomska Road, South Dartmouth, at 9:00 a.m. Sunday, January 8th, for a Winter Waterfowl Bird Walk which will carpool to various sites.

The Lloyd Center offers a guided Bird Walk on the first Sunday of every month at locations on or near the Center's 55-acre property on the Slocum River. This month's walk is designed to introduce participants to waterfowl species and their habitats. All sightings recorded during the walk are added to the Center's on-going bird inventory. By studying the variety of bird life and numbers of individuals seen at and near the Lloyd Center property for the past three years, we hope to detect changes.

Wintering Waterfowl is one of a series of free, public Weekly Walks given at the Lloyd Center. Participants are encouraged to bring their own binoculars, sighting scopes, and bird guides. We will carpool from the Lloyd Center and then reconvene there after the walk. Please call the Center at 990-0505 to register for this weekly walk and to receive additional information.

WALK THROUGH HOWLAND PROPERTY

The Lloyd Center for Environmental Studies will offer a guided walk through the Howland property, a parcel owned by the Dartmouth Natural Resources Trust. All interested walkers should meet at the Lloyd Center, 430 Potomska Road in South Dartmouth at 1:30 p.m. on Sunday, December 18th, to carpool to the site.

The Howland property is a 20-acre abandoned farm site in North Dartmouth. The area includes lovely white pine forest which abuts Cornell Pond and Copicut Brook. A fresh water marsh and red maple swamp make interesting exploring.

This walk is one of a series of monthly walks on Dartmouth Natural Resource Trust properties. Please come in comfortable

Letters to The Editor

Think of it - after almost 2,000 years millions of people from all over the world still visit Bethlehem to see where Christ was born. Countless other millions wish it were possible to do so as well.

Although there are 14 churches and a mosque in Bethlehem, the spot most important to all is the Church of the Nativity - an enormous church which houses three churches inside - Greek, Roman and Armenian. It is thought to be the oldest Christian Church still in service today - and all except one entrance are walled up. That one entrance is just 40 inches tall and is called "The Door of Humility" - one must stoop to enter.

Archbishop Fulton J. Sheen told us in his splendid book THE LIFE OF CHRIST: "He was born in a cave, all who wish to see Him must stoop. To stoop is a mark of humility. The proud refuse to stoop and therefore miss Divinity".

Here in Marion we are happy that the ORR students provided us with the Christmas creche which they made for us - and despite the American Civil Liberties Union

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

I have recently seen or heard several articles which have appeared on television, the radio, in the newspapers and certain magazines which are geared to changing the world and making this planet a better, and thus, a safer place to live. The effort has been centered on man himself and I agree that some of the attempts that society uses to accomplish this feat are very good.

I've seen how local governments have cleaned up highly dilapidated and crime filled areas, replacing them with modernized buildings and well lit streets. More and more laws are being drawn up each and every day to protect man from his worst enemy, himself. Many jails have long ago become overcrowded with individuals from all walks of life who have refused to conform to society's attempts to develop a "better" man. I agree that many of these ideas are very good ones, and are necessary towards developing a better society. My purpose in writing is not to put down efforts already being done, but to point out that one fact eludes society which I believe is the missing link.

If you were to look at all the ideas that man has devised to better himself and his fellow man you'd be quick to observe that all of these ideas attempt to change man outwardly. The missing link allows for man to be changed inwardly where by his heart and soul first become new, resulting in a drastic improvement in the outer man. The man changed inwardly, as I have personally observed in myself and in others, has a normal response of freely, without being pressured, conforming to the rules, regulations, and expectations of the society he lives in. This cannot be accomplished in mass production like we would produce any thing else. Each and every individual has to be willing to change inwardly and there is a way for this to be done.

This way is not to be found in religion, for religion is any number of avenues whereby man seeks to reach his god by pleasing him. The way is found in Christianity, which is different from religion because Christianity is the story where God seeks man.

Let's face it, man is basically evil. Long ago Jesus Christ came to earth to pay the penalty for man's sins. The Bible says that whoever puts their trust in Him will never be put to shame, their sins are forgiven them and He grants each one who trusts in Him eternal life. That is the gospel of good news, and it's free to any person who puts their faith in Him.

As a result of that faith, man sees himself as redeemed, and the result is one of gratitude and love for his creator, the person whose sins have been forgiven is usually quick to turn from his sinful habits and live a lifestyle in accordance to God's commands. Incidentally, these commands of God have always become the rules and regulations of most legislative branches of society. Don't kill, don't steal and don't commit adultery, have their roots in the days of Moses. Man can only conform to these commands when he allows God to change him inwardly. Those people who profess to be Christians based on citizenship in a church or other religious organizations are sometimes fooled into thinking that they are truly Christians. These people are religious, certainly, but whether or not they have changed inwardly is too often a different story, as observed by all the supposed Christians who claim to be, but by their lifestyles we question their claim.

God provided a way for man to escape his sins through faith in Jesus Christ and his

With your assistance, the SBDC has been able to announce our existence to the small business community, keep readers updated on our progress and keep individuals informed of our training programs. Your help has, in turn, allowed us to help many small businesses begin, survive and prosper.

Through your cooperation and assistance, the Small Business Development Center has assisted nearly 400 small business people, and offered training to over 600 individuals during this year alone. We sincerely hope ever, the holiday season can be a particularly difficult time not only for the patient but for their family, friends and relatives as well.

Those closest to patients try to be understanding and supportive during this time but it is not always easy.

Taking Time is a book written for patients and their families to help them understand some of the feelings they may be experiencing. Based on letters and conversations with patients, their families and health professionals, Taking Time offers a brief look at the way some cancer patients and their loved ones have coped with their feelings.

A free copy of Taking Time may be obtained by calling the Cancer Information Service at 1-800-4-CANCER.

The Cancer Information Service is part of a nationwide network of communications offices and is operated under the joint sponsorship of the Regional Cancer Control Program; the American Cancer Society, Massachusetts Division; the American College of Surgeons, Massachusetts Chapter; the Massachusetts Medical Society, and the Dana-Farber Cancer Institute, Boston.

tinct advantage to the small-business person is that a mail order business may begin small, even in the home, or as an add-on to an existing business and may be generated part time in the early stages.

Because of this, added Mitchell, and the fact that it is cost efficient when done right, the mail order business is experiencing phenomenal growth.

This seminar is designed for beginners. It will cover all the major topics they should know about, including getting started right, cost, marketing, franchises, choosing the item(s), publishing the catalog or other mailing, promotion, advertising, legalities and common problems. The Small Business Development Center is always available to help people get started. SBDC services don't end there, however. Any business, said Mitchell, may encounter some problems at any stage, and mail order is no exception. The SBDC will provide free follow-up service at any time.

audiences. Most young audience performances will be again performed by the Performing Arts Repertory Theatre (P.A.R.T.) from New York City, the country's pre-eminent producer of theatre for young people.

Young Tom Edison arrives at the Zeiterion on Friday, March 23rd. The story of the boy inventor's irrepressible antics add up to musical merriment, as he is spurred on to adventure and discovery by the magical "why".

The Zeiterion Theatre will present from its own schedule a very special work-in-progress performance of Mummenschanz on Wednesday, March 4th. Mummenschanz will be in New Bedford for one week, holding workshops and lecture-demos of their new Broadway-bound show. The troup garb themselves in fantastic wrappings and become beings without heads, animals and monsters. Young audiences will get a special look at this extraordinary Swiss group.

P.A.R.T. performances continue with The Wizard of Oz on Wednesday, April 25th. They're all here - Dorothy, Scarecrow, Tinman and the Cowardly Lion - in this musical adventure classic by the Gingerbread Players and Jack. Finally, on Wednesday, May 16th, comes the fascinating portrait of an exceptional woman on the 100th anniversary of her birth - Young Eleanor Roosevelt (First Lady). MS Magazine called the show "a delightful musical", and Channel 9 in New York labeled the show "exceptional". Both Dan Kirsch, Managing Director of the Zeiterion Theatre, and Sally Hopkinson, Administrative Assistant, were involved with this show when working theatre in New York City.

These weekday morning shows are presented primarily to expose school children to the live performing arts. Performances in New Bedford will be at 10:00 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. for all P.A.R.T. presentations. Mummenschanz will have one special performance at 10:00 a.m. for school groups, and will

True Value HARDWARE STORES

On a scale of 1000 this shoe is a ~~990~~ 995

The way we see it, the New Balance 990 comes as close to perfection as any running shoe ever has. Especially now that we've made the following improvements.

DECREASED HEEL ANGLE
We've modified the heel design of the 990, making it slightly less angled. The result: smoother movement through the gait cycle, and less strain on the achilles and lower leg.

SOFTER MOTION CONTROL DEVICE
We've gone to a new polyester material for the 990's Motion Control Device. It still provides maximum control of excessive pronation and supination, and up to 95% shock attenuation. But now it's softer and more flexible, allowing the heel to seat itself deeper and more comfortably in the shoe.

CARBON RUBBER HEEL PAD AND NEW SUPERFLEX OUTERSOLE
With these two refinements, we've improved the durability of the 990. Our tests show that Superflex wears nearly 30% better than the previous soling material. And the carbon rubber heel pad makes the rearfoot twice as durable.

THANKS.
Your comments and suggestions about the 990 were very helpful to us. And we responded to them. And while we're still going to call it the 990, we all know it's really a 995 now.
